NAVAN NOTABLES

David Graftan, "Bird Man of Navan"

David wanted to make our residents aware of the rich natural environment in our village. So he started to write the articles on the local birds. He joined up with the great photographer, Tom Devesceni, and together with a photo from Tom's vast supply, David researches the birds to present us with their stories. I love these articles as I am becoming more familiar with our local avians. David is amazed at what he finds when researching his birds. So many are world travellers and somehow find their way to our little part of the world. The sand hill cranes which once were rare in this neck of the woods, are inundating our area. You can find them in fields south of Smith on the Navan walking path. These migrating birds are greyish, resembling a Canada goose in size. They feed on the grain from an ex-corn field. Hal McPherson, another bird enthusiast, spied the worm eating warbler, the rarest bird to be seen in this area. Many of us have feeders in our yards but we should have a block of suet as well, for our winter dwellers. The fat helps them survive the cold.

Dr. Graftan is now retired from his profession as Manager of Conservation Research at The Canadian Conservation Institute, which is devoted to the preservation of museum collections. He is internationally recognized as an expert in his field and is called upon to work in various countries. Since retiring, he is an active member of the Navan Lions Club. Those wonderful costumes you see at local events are made by David! He is also involved in the upkeep of St. Mary's church and its property. Often, you can see him and his wife, Rachel, cleaning St. Mary's gardens at the corner.

David plans to write about other animals in our environment but wouldn't comment on which ones. He likes to surprise his fans! Whichever ones you write about David, you can rest assured all the Navan Nugget readers will enjoy them.

Meeting nights: 2nd & 4th Monday each month at the Navan Curling Club – Lions Den

December was a busy month for the Navan Lions Club, and mercifully January has proven to be somewhat quieter. Of most significance was that on the 15th January we hosted a meeting for our Governor John Chilvers at which several Lions Groups attended. These included including Cumberland, North Gloucester, Clarence, Manotick. Our Governor, John, has to visit 68 Lions Clubs this year and as you can imagine is a major challenge. We try to aid him in that by combining as many clubs as possible at each meeting. John used the occasion most effectively to present long service awards to many Lions and to invest two new members of the club – Anne Bourassa and Lesley Greening. In addition, the Navan Lions Club was delighted to present a cheque for $2602 to the Outcare Foundation for their Telelink program. This program seeks to improve accessibility for training in the delivery of palliative care and is a Charity which is strongly supported by Johnny Bradley, and these funds were raised at our silent auction at November's Curling Bonspeil.

On a lighter note several members of our club attended the annual general meeting of the Cumberland Township Agricultural Society on the 24th January to receive the award for best overall float at the Navan Fair. We dressed up for the occasion in our parade costumes – much to the delight of a number of young hockey players not to mention the members of the Agricultural Society - who looked at us with facial expressions which said "can this be real". I was dressed as a carrot, my co Lions Lesley Greening, Mark O' Donoughue, Neil Corey, Don McCartney and Chris MacPherson were a pickle, clowns, an Apple (complete with a worm) and a Cabbage complete with two Cabbage White Butterflies.

of each month

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Township Agricultural Society would like to thank the members who took time out of their busy lives and came out on very cold night to attend our Annual General Meeting on Thursday, January 24th at the Navan Memorial Centre hall. We were honored to have Jason Coulas representing Councillor Stephan Blais in attendance and who extended thanks to the volunteers, Board and sponsors who all make the Navan Fair a success every year.

New President for 2013 will be Wendy Chretien.
2013 Theme is "Stirrup Some Fun"

Awards and Recognition were given to the following people:

Sam & Janet Rathwell Award – presented by Don Rathwell & Jason Coulas to Julie Charlebois/ David Levesque family for their demonstration of exemplary teamwork, spirit, and creativity at the Navan Fair, for the CTAS and within the community. Both Julie and David exhibited in Culinary Arts, Floriculture, Fruits/Vegetables and Homecraft earning top prizes.

Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies (OAAS) Award - presented to Audrey Hamilton by the CTAS Board of Directors for her outstanding contribution to the Heavy Horse Division of the Navan fair. She is one of the founding members of the Ottawa Valley Clydesdale Association and was involved in organizing the 50 Horse Hitch in Navan in 1995.

Volunteer Youth of Distinction – Sydney, Taylor & Byron McNeely are this year's recipients. Sydney & Taylor can be found helping the Culinary Judge on Thursday of the fair and Saturday serving/cooking at the parade breakfast. Byron can be found out on the grounds helping the ground crews. Sydney, Taylor & Byron all have busy schedules – they attend school full time, participate in sports and hold part time jobs in addition to all their volunteering.

Volunteer of the Year – Ardyth Elliott was recognized for her work during the past 12 years and hopefully many years to come with Homecraft Division of the Navan Fair. Ardyth is heavily involved volunteering in the community with the Women's Institute, St Mark's Church, the Cumberland Community Association and many other groups benefit from her help throughout the Ottawa area.

EASTERN TOWHEE

Firstly I must congratulate Tom Devecseri on his photograph taken in Navan of the rare Eastern Towhee – his report together with his beautiful photograph was featured in the Ottawa Citizen in early January. He credits a Navanite for alerting him of an unusual bird visit to their feeder. This was a very surprising observation as Ottawa is considered to be the northern limit of the summer range of this bird. At this time of year one would expect to find this bird in Texas, New Mexico or Colorado. This bird is approximately the size of a Red Winged Blackbird and is omnivorous. The Stokes guide reports that it does come to feeders for “seed on the ground”. Is this why it strayed out of its summer range? Is our propensity for feeding birds luring birds to brave the Canadian Winter? If so it does tend to raise the whole question of whether to feed or not to feed wild birds. My own view is that, it would probably have been preferable had we never started, but that it is too late now and many birds would just not survive without feeders. In any case much of the original habitat has been obliterated by development or drainage or whatever so there really is no going back. You may remember this discussion was touched upon earlier in a discussion of the Cardinal - which has adopted suburban back yards as an environment of choice. One final note about the Towhee – As an ex Brit I love the Stokes Guide’s description of its call as “2 whistles followed by a high trill like “drink your teeee”.

Finally – I wonder if you have seen the most recent advertisement for the 2013 Subaru Outback (A car, which I fantasize about owning) This ad features a little chart of birds named as “whatchamacallit”, “beaked thing”, “Blue winged thingamabob” etc. The point of the ad is that maybe you should get out more (in your Subaru) as you obviously can’t tell a duck from a Blue Jay. I would be happy to E-mail you a scanned copy if you wish to identify the birds and I’ll donate my old copy of the Peterson guide to Birds of North America to the first person who correctly names all nine birds. dwgrattan@gmail.com. (There would have been occasions in the past when I would have donated my 2002 Subaru too – but not now) . Written by David Grattan. Photo by Tom Devesceri.
